COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The Town Office will be open Monday Feb. 18 and Saturday, Feb. 23, primarily to accept excise taxes. The Mexico office for registering vehicles will be open all day both the 18th and 23rd.

Some town officials must attend a hearing, Feb. 12, to answer to charges we are in violation of the law that prohibits dumping rubbish within 300 feet of a classified waterway. Fourteen other towns in the area must appear also. We must submit plans of what we intend to do and when we are going to do it, or the Department of Environmental Protection will formulate them for us.

"We have been hesitant to commit ourselves to definite plans because the guidelines presented have been vague and considering the sums of money necessary to implement any approach to the solid waste problem we wanted to know the path chosen was going to be acceptable in the future. The DEP now is advocating sanitary land fills which, to them, appear to be the only solution although some of their people will admit privately these will be outdated within a few years.

The Town Office must be open 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. weekdays from Feb. 6 through Feb. 12 to accept voter registrations prior to the School District Budget Meeting.

HEARINGS ON 300 FOOT VIOLATIONS FACE DUMP OWNERS NEXT WEEK

Several communities and individuals in this part of Maine, whose dumps may threaten nearby waters, will meet next week with representatives of the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) to discuss how long their operations can continue.

All such owners have been called to a public hearing ordered by the Board of Environmental Protection and scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 12, at 9 a. m. in the County Court House at South Paris.

Scheduled to appear in the order listed are: Bethel, Bridgton, Buckfield, Byron, Carthage, Dixfield, Greenwood, Hebron, Lewiston, Lovell, Naples, Peru, Sumner, Temple and Woodstock.

The law being violated by these dumps is Section 421, Title 38 of the Maine Statutes, which requires that no dump be operated nearer than 300 feet to any classified waters of the state. Classified waters are those for which the Legislature has set specific goals for water quality. They range from Class A, "drinkable", to Class D, "industrial". Classifications have been assigned to nearly all streams, ponds, coastal waters and their tributaries in Maine.

An amendment to the law, which became effective last October, permits the Department of Environmental Protection to grant variances of up to 2 years for dumps continued on Page Four

by Walt Cherry

Our young enrollee is one of several who have been placed at Elan by the Massachusetts authorities, who pay monthly, an amount insufficient to cover the cost of their keep—but such is the dedication of the Elan people.

When he arrived, he found Elan I, then located in Naples, different from other places in which he had been detained. There were no bars, for one thing, no visible evidence of authority, no guards, no guns, no clubs, no uniforms, and no fences. Escape would have been a cinch for him and he considered it, but stayed on for a few weeks and then months; not really aware of what was happening to him. He was changing and he didn't realize it.

He hated the place for a long time and was as troublesome as any enrollee before or since. For a long while he behaved as he always had, doing as he pleased, no matter what the consequences. After a long period of orientation, he was entered into the routine of the school, which meant starting at the bottom, to rebuild his life. He was a worker, then a "ramrod" (1st level boss), then given greater responsibilities, according to the policy of Elan I. He was still playing a game, though, as far as he was concerned. He had played the confidence game for years and it was easy. He was "fooling the squares" again, he thought.

He was not fooling anyone, and after he had been given enough rope and he still showed his lack and honesty and purpose, the Director "shook him down" hard. It was brought to his attention, all that had been done for him, and how little he had done in return. Something very strange, to him, happened. He cried . . . for the first time since his childhood. The tears were real and his shame was real. He had feelings . . . ! — feelings he hadn't experienced since the mental institution. He was beginning to care. He was growing up.

He was far from adult at that moment. There was much to be done, but a breakthrough had been accomplished. He still had reservations and fears, but these are the feelings shared by all who are enrolled at Elan I. The incident shook him hard. He became saddened, inadequate and convinced he would be a no-good junkie for the rest of his life. This was fortunate for him, although he didn't know it, because he had broken the devilish chains which shackle all junkies; complacency and satisfaction with his old way of life.

The Director, cadre and enrollees wouldn't quit. Starting at the bottom again, he has slowly worked his way up to positions of ever increasing responsibility. He began to accept the friendship and respect offered him, and is a less guarded way, returned them. He is 18 now, and the future looks better for him. He is growing in self-esteem and confidence each day. One day he will graduate with a set of rules and values entirely different from those of the young man who entered Elan 17 months ago.

Why didn't he split? How was his resistance to Elan broken down? What was it that converted him from a near animal bent on self-interest and satisfaction only, to a human being with feelings? The answers are many. Some are unknown, but some are obvious.

For one thing, at Elan I his material status was immediately enhanced many fold. Where before he had lived in cockroach-infested flats and slept in lice-ridden beds, Elan I provided him with clean, wholesome surroundings, and regular, hearty meals. No one called him "spic" or "slime".

His need for identity, for belonging, which he fulfilled in the past by joining the junkies and their way of life, was fulfilled by a peer group which spoke his short-worded language, and who stuck by him no matter how often he ridiculed them, and obstinately refused to communicate with them. He found a family, the members of which were working toward similar goals. Most of all, he became relevant to others, and his contributions were necessary to the growth of all the group. Is there anyone alive who, no matter how downtrodden, despaired, or hurt, has no feelings left? The Director, cadre, and enrollees don't think so.

Of the principal reasons for his remarkable change and subsequent growth, Joe Ricci, the Director, was probably the most important. In Joe, he found a person who commanded his attention and eventually his respect, and—yes—love; love of a son for his father.

For too long, his father image was distorted with hatred and contempt. His heroes were older guys who had "made it", peddling, soliciting, or stealing. In Joe, he found, not sympathy, but empathy. This empathy was born of the fact that Joe had "been there". Himself a truant turned delinquent, turned junkie, he had almost walked into the same living hell that was waiting for our subject. With help from others, and hard work and dedication, Joe had been able to reverse his own direction completely and permanently.

No amount of preaching or "dogooding", or babying would have brought about the change that took place. Neither would expensive one-on-one psychiatry. Neither would incarceration or hospitalization. If you bury a living organism too deeply, it will die. Elan enrollees are not incarcerated or hospitalized. They are people transplanted, nourished, and growing toward a fuller life.

What this "nourishment" consists of, we will discuss in another installment.

NORTHWEST BETHEL

—Mrs. Louise B. Chapman, Corres.—

Slowly but surely, all children must grow up. It happens one step at a time. You have to watch carefully, or you'll miss these steps, and once you've missed them, there's no going back! In four short years, I've seen my oldest grow from complete dependency on me to a form of her own independence. A small thing like dressing herself, and getting her own drink of water means she is, in a small way, preparing for the outside world. My baby, my two year old, just gave up her bottle, and refuses to wear diapers to bed. Certainly a form of independence. Each of the girls are beginning to form very distinct personalities, and in more ways than one, are beginning to assert themselves. Each new day brings new discoveries for me, both as a parent and as a person. You have to observe your children very closely, because if you blink they may grow up without you. Now, after you've suffered through my philosophy on children growing up may I once again share a personal experience with you?

The experience centers around just what I've been talking about, growing up. The girls and I were up in the woods where their father works. He has a small camp there where the various tools, necessary for logging, are kept, and where the workers can come in and enjoy the warm wood fire and eat their lunch. Since this place is only a mile from the trailer, we enjoy going there quite often. It's quite a treat for the girls to go up there and enjoy such delicacies as crisp, cooked hot dogs, hot chocolate, and twinkies. But, the other day, they discovered fire. Now what does that mean? Well, I was in the process of stocking a very uncooperative fire when they began to notice the effect of the fire on a piece of paper. To them, it was amazing to watch the fire take a piece of paper and methodically devour it. A small but significant step, wouldn't you say?

Victor Coolidge is improved somewhat after his accident. He's still in Rumford Community Hospital where he has to stay until he is able to have a cast put on. He hopes to be home by Friday.

Timmy and Kristy Angevine have been down with the "bug" this week.

It's always good to see Mr. Lapham on his daily walks. Nice to think someone's got so much energy!

LT. COL. BENNETT TO RECEIVE DEGREE

Lt. Col. Donald G. Bennett, presently on a three-year assignment as Army Liaison Officer with the Defense Intelligence Agency in London, has completed requirements for the degree of Master of Arts in International Relations at the University of Southern California's London School of Politics and International Relations. He will receive this degree, with distinction, at graduation ceremonies in June.

Lt. Col. Bennett, the son of the late Harold G. Bennett, and Mrs. Bennett, is a 1952 graduate of Gould Academy. He enlisted in the army in October, 1954. He, his wife Katherine, and daughter April, expect to return from London in August.

HEALTH INFORMATION FORUM PRESENTS PROGRAM ON FAMILY LIFE ON FEB. 13

The Health Information Forum of the Rumford Community Hospital and Auxiliary will present a Family Life Forum on Wednesday, Feb. 13, at the Greater Rumford Community Center, ground floor meeting room, beginning at 7 p. m. The public is invited and admission is free.

Participating organizations will include: Tri County Family Planning, Prepared Childbirth Organization, LaLeche League and Rumford Nursing Mothers Group, and the Oxford County Association for Retarded Children.

Anyone interested in family life is invited to attend. They will have an opportunity to learn more about these organizations, and how these groups can help them to have a healthier, happier family.

JoAnne Cook, Family Planning Coordinator for Oxford County, will discuss the services and eligibility of her organization. Through the use of a filmstrip presentation, she will explain family planning which is voluntary planning and action by people to have the number of children they want when they want to have them.

The Prepared Childbirth Organization, which educates expectant couples in prenatal care and in the process of labor and delivery, will be presented by Jennifer Cohen, R. N., one of the instructors. She will explain the objectives of their organization and give a brief description of the course content.

The LaLeche League and the Rumford Nursing Mothers Group, which meets to share views and discuss benefits of breastfeeding, will be represented and discussed by Fay Corrin and Louise Stieney. Information about a newly formed group in the Bethel area, "Mothers with Children," will also be available.

Mrs. Laura Dubois, director of programming for the Oxford County Association for Retarded Children, will cover the following questions in detail in order to give an in depth study of programming for the retarded in this area: What is mental retardation? What does birth-to-death programming mean to the retarded and their families? What services do the Oxford County Association for the Retarded offer for the community?

This Family Life Forum is the third in a series of nine public information programs presented to explain the role of health agencies in the community.

within the 300-foot zone if no pollution of the nearby waters will occur. Dump owners who felt they could quality for such variances were to submit applications to the DEP prior to Nov. 1. Their requests will be reviewed at the hearing next Tuesday.

All others, whose dumps cannot qualify because nearby waters are being harmed, will be ordered to close down that portion of their operation within 300 feet of the water. They were informed last October that their facilities would be placed on implementation schedules by the DEP. Those schedules while allowing for orderly phasing out of the existing dump, will include definite shut-down dates.

At the hearing on Tuesday information will be sought to help the Board establish a reasonable and firm closing schedule.

SOUTH WOODSTOCK

Mrs. Olive Davis, Corres.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Clements and boys were in Belfast Friday where they visited Mrs. Margaret Clements. Saturday they went to Orono where they attended a party held in honor of John Clements, a brother of Mr. Clements. John has just retired from the air force. Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Clements and family returned home Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Davis were in Bridgton and took dinner with Mrs. Arthur Andrews. In the afternoon, Mrs. Andrews took them to the Bridgton hospital where they all visited their cousin, Paul Foster, who is under treatment there. They were pleased to find him looking better.

Mrs. Martha Clements, who is attending school at U. of M.-Farmington, made the dean's list for which we are very happy for her as it requires a lot of work on her part and especially so because she also has a home, a husband, and three boys to care for.

Ricky Wing had the misfortune of having a live wire snap off the pole above his house and falling across his car. Two tires blew out by the current. Everyone in South Woodstock was without lights from 4:50 to 8:25 p. m. It made a cold evening as it was hovering around zero that night outside. The wind blew down trees everywhere. The noise on our radios vanished after the repairs were made. We have had the interference every Spring and it hasn't been pinpointed. Evidently it had something to do with the connections on the poles near here or a bare wire rubbing as it sways in the wind. If its gone I'm happy.

Frank Campbell changed the motor in his car for a better one this week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Davis Sunday.

CUB SCOUT NEWS

Sunday, Jan. 27, was sliding day. We had a great turn out. Glad to see so many could make it. Fun was had by all including getting wet.

Mike O'Donnell won grand prize for sliding the most. He didn't miss a one. Many thanks to Harry Taylor for the plowing he did.

The Pack meeting of Jan. 28 was a great success! The Pine Wood Derby Race was very exciting, and lots of fun. There was a large turnout, with lots of hooting and cheering from all sides.

First place winner was Bruce Greenleaf; second place was Brent Godwin; third place winner was Ricky Saunders. The judges had a most difficult time choosing these cars for prizes: most effort, Jody Shimamura; most antique, Joey Thornton; funniest, Alan Korhonen; most original, David Robins. We would like to thank the judges for doing such a great job. The judging wasn't very easy, considering all the great entries. The judges were: Ernest Perkins, Ronald Stevens and Sonny Bean. Many thanks to Les Bates, Malcolm Bennett, Gerry Tyler and Harry Taylor, for all the time and effort they put into that beautiful track.

Now let's move on to the Father and Son bowling, Feb. 17. Meeting place is IGA parking lot at 10 a. m. Each child should have a father or someone who is responsible for him on this bowling trip. The charge is 25 cents a string, the shoes are free. The father and son will bowl two strings each. The cost for one father and son will be $1.00. The money will be collected at the Oxford Lanes parking lot. Please try to have the exact change. Afterwards, we will stop at McDonald's. Due to the time we will arrive at McDonald's, we might have to eat in the cars.

McDonald's will furnish the french fries (yippie). It was a big success last year. We hope for the same this year.

The annual Blue and Gold banquet will be held at the Feb. 25 Pack meeting. This will be a buffet style supper. We would appreciate it if everyone would bring a dish of some kind. You will be contacted by someone as to what you should bring. The time will be 6 p. m., at the Congregational Church.

TELSTAR FROSH WIN EIGHTH

Bill Morton's Telstar Freshmen won their fifth game in a row and upped their season's overall record to 8-2 with a 58-43 win over Leavitt Freshmen last Thursday. Leavitt stayed close for about two quarters with the Rebels leading by slim margins of 12-8, 25-23, and 44-35.

Telstar received balanced point production from Dave Webster (14), Peter Bean (13), Jack Taylor (12), and Larry Bennett (10). Webster set a new Freshman record by hauling down 20 rebounds. Smith of Leavitt topped all scorers with 23 failures.

Telstar has a home duel with Livermore Falls Thursday, Feb. 7, and with Winthrop on Monday, Feb. 11. These two teams are the only ones to have triumphs over the Rebels this season.

LANGUAGE LEARNING MOVES INTO THE KITCHEN

As you look at these pictures, you will wonder what this nutty bunch is doing in the Home Economic Room at Telstar. But don't stop there. I urge you to read the column too.

You will think perhaps that a Spanish class should be in room 201 studying verbs and Spanish phrases, not in the Home Ec. room.

That's, of course, what some people think. Here at Telstar, however, we think a little bit differently. Spanish is where the action is. Learning verbs and phrases is just one aspect of the learning process.

The other aspect of learning language is involving the student in meaningful experiences which have lasting effects in his life. Such has been the trend since 1968 when the language program was initiated here at Telstar.

Just recently one German class put on a meal. It was an unforgettable experience for Mr. Taylor's students. "Seeing the students working together," says Mr. Taylor, "is marvelous. Imagine," he continues saying, "how beautiful it is when what they leave in class is transferred into the kitchen. What a wonderful way of teaching foreign culture to them."

Yes, the language department has done it again. Once more language learning has been moved into the kitchen for the educational benefit of the students.

This time there was a Spanish class doing its thing in the kitchen. All the students shared equally in the responsibilities that led to the success of this experiment in language learning.

Special mention should go to the following students who led the action in the kitchen last Friday: Robin Dooen, a promising gourmet; Peggy Morin, an expert meat-cutter; Linda Roseberry, efficient organizer; Herb Coolidge, Jacky Morin, and Marcia Mills, budding chefs. Cheers go to Terri Mason and Eslyn Tyler and their tearful struggles with the onions.

Sincere appreciation to Mrs. Dombkowski for her expertise, patience, and fine sense of humor.

HOME HEATING OIL
STILL IN SHORT SUPPLY

"We don't have all the home heating oil we need or would like, but if everyone continues to conserve fuel, and the weather remains moderate, we won't suffer any major disruption," said Timothy Wilson, Director of the Bureau of Civil Defense.

I've been quoted as saying that the home heating crisis is over. It is not over, but it is no longer the worst crisis in fuel that we have in Maine. There are still problems, but after three months of work, we are better able to handle them. Of course, no matter how well the State Fuel Allocation Office can handle problems, they still exist," Wilson stressed.

Wilson urged people to continue their fuel conservation efforts. "This is not the time to turn thermostats up. If people began to do that because they thought the crisis was over, we would again be faced with major shortages of No. 2 and kerosene," he said.

Wilson repeated that gasoline was now Maine's most crucial problem, but he added that home heating fuels were "running a close second".

"PROJECT FUEL" HAS
WINTERIZED 20 HOMES IN OXFORD COUNTY

Oxford County "Project Fuel" which is being administered by Oxford County Economic Opportunity Council has winterized a total of 20 homes to date in the following towns: Norway, Paris, Hebron, Hartford, Oxford and Buckfield. Winterizing consisted of banking houses, plastic storm windows, replacing broken panes of glass, capping, caulking, weatherstripping, insulation of walls, skirting trailers, cleaning chimneys, replacing stove pipes and flues. Applications to winterize homes have also been received from Rumford, Mexico, Dixfield, Andover, Byron and Canton.

Workmen will begin winterizing homes in Rumford, Mexico and surrounding towns starting the week of Jan. 28. If you live in Oxford County, and have a loss of heat due to broken windows, no storm windows, house not being banked or loss of heat through roof due to lack of insulation, if you have a fuel or energy crisis problem, contact the Energy Crisis Coordinator, Joyce Bennett at the Oxford County Economic Opportunity Council Office, 35 Market Square, South Paris, Maine between the hours of 8 a. m. and 4 p. m. GREENWOOD CITY

— Mrs. Celista Morgan, Corrae. —

Here it is the beginning of February, the season for ear-tingling cold. It's the time of the cries of blue jays but yet no sound of spring in their notes. Light is returning to our world. When the sun rolls up over my mountain in the southeast it looks like radiant gold. The lofty tree tops nearly brush the sky as they gleam in these first rays.

So with a day like this I again crossed the pond. From down on big pond came the gay voices and laughter of the ice fisherman. The bright colors of wool were readily seen against the white.

Beneath the softness of the snow in places there was the slush of water on top of the solid ice cover. I had carried my snowshoes to this point as there had been just ice this far. Putting my snowshoes on I kept well up the opposite shore before entering the woods.

Imagine my surprise to see a bush of pussy willows all in gray fur! They were bold to venture out on the twenty seventh of January.

It was really a day to be out of doors in the shining air with the sun striking down upon the snow.

From somewhere over the mountain the snowmobiles were grinding their way into the forest trails. Entering the woodlands the snowshoeing was good until I came to the Whitman farm and followed the road between the new growing pines: planted a few years ago, and the edge of the swamp land. Here I found a glassy crust, a hard white floor. I would go a few steps cautiously, thinking skates would be better; then it would crack with my weight for a few steps. I did not walk with much ease but it was not without interest.

The pines had grown so much taller in a year's time and on such a surface as this the shadows were plentiful, the brown grasses standing by the way were many and varied; each interesting in its own way.

At the end of this lane I crossed the woods to the left then the Sanborn near the rapids. Following the river toward Patch Mountain I came to a chattering brook; its ice cover fallen in. Tiny pools carried silvered water and the soft light of the sun through the branches. The waving sea of feathered ferns was no where to be seen but mosses grew on the banks. There is always beauty in the running brooks. One empties into another then the swift and slow are one moving on.

The snow's white blanket showed the rabbits' clumsy track. Had he come here to drink or just to enjoy the stillness as I had?

"Peace is not on a rushing highway leading nowhere; it is in the depth of forests where the wind is stilled."

—Ina Ladd Brown

An uphill climb took me to the top of a knoll where there were gray birches, some leaning and covered with fungi, like tiny ears, and were smoothly buttoned into their jackets.

From beyond came the faint dry rustle of the withered oak leaves, as I descended the hill and started toward home.

It had been a day of warmth and friendly sun and now that it was time to depart I had the picture tightly locked in my heart. A woodland walk is a happy experience and no matter how many times repeated never loses its charm.

I REMEMBER
BY THE OLD TIMER

From Mrs. Ollie Gilmore, Laurinburg, N.C.: I remember when there were no cars and when Sundays came the buggies and wagons and the surries with the fringe on top would get folks to the churchyard.

When someone was sick, folks came from miles around to visit. When someone died, men dug the grave and sometimes made the coffin. Women cooked and helped in other ways.

We raised all our vegetables, raised hogs for meat and lard. We worked in the field all day and at night we loved to sit around the big fireplace and listen to mama and papa tell stories of their early years. Sometimes, mama would sing.

We raised chickens, and gathered eggs, and milked cows. There were no fancy decorations in those days.

We walked two or three miles to school each day. We boiled our clothes in a big wash pot, used a scrub board. Mama even made the soap with which we did the laundry. Those were the good old days.

CASCO'S NEW
4-YEAR GUARANTEE

7.51% 7.25%
ANNUAL YIELD SIMPLE ANNUAL INTEREST

Yes, now your long-term savings can yield ever so slightly more than 7½% at Casco — 7.51% to be exact. With a four-year deposit of $1,000 or more in one of Casco's new 4-year guaranteed Savings Certificates you receive 7.25% simple annual interest. And in just one year Casco's daily compounding increases your actual yield to 7.51%.

Attractive as this new higher rate may be, it may not make sense for you to keep all your savings in a new 4-year guaranteed certificate because regulations impose a substantial penalty for early withdrawal. Federal law requires that you forfeit 3 months interest on the amount withdrawn and that the interest on this amount be reduced to the passbook rate.

This is why Casco's 2-in-1 savings idea makes so much sense. In one savings booklet you keep the record of both short-term and long-term savings. On the short-term side you enjoy in-one-day-out-the-next flexibility and interest at a full 5%. On the long-term side you choose the term you want — 1, 2, 3 or 4 years.

Yes, the new ideas in savings come from Casco.

We're always thinking...

A "Bethelites' reunion" occurred Jan. 30 at Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco, Calif., when Mrs. Ethel Robertson of Richmond, Mrs. Mary Ann (Myers) Smith of San Mateo, and Mrs. Judy (Freeman) Tibbets of San Rafael, all formerly of Bethel, joined together for a luncheon date. LOOKING AT 1974

Will Hope Replace Cynicism and Apathy?

By

Patrick Dudgeon

Staff Writer

Community Press

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The writer is 30 years old, graduate of the University of Notre Dame, served as an Ensign in the U. S. Navy. His commentary does not necessarily reflect the ideas or opinions of the management or staff of this newspaper; it is presented for what it is — the views of one member of a generation group which has seen many changes in our society, our nation, and our world.)

1974 is moving on. The United States is now only two years away from its 200th anniversary. But are things working out the way we had planned? In general, I mean. With a new crisis greeting us on the national level almost daily now, it is not hard to believe that as a country we are at the least becoming a bit tense. I don't have the latest poll at hand but as I look ahead into the new year I have this "feeling." Cynicism and apathy are running rampant in our society. I can't document it for you, it's just an impression. If it's true I have some thoughts on why.

From the fence on which I sit our two devils can be traced to the tumultuous times of the last decade. A significant segment of the population has been so drastically influenced by the events of the sixties and early seventies that they still remain unsettled and unsure about their present situation and direction. For them the goals of this society have proven to be in error enough that they must be seriously questioned. Vietnam, Watergate. The list is familiar to us all. The disaffected multitudes aren't just the rebellious students, the draft evaders and the peaceniks of the '60's. Many went along with the war and other acknowledged societal aims until recently. And now they doubt themselves and the goals of their society.

The Outlook

Alienation. Apathy. Cynicism. Secrecy. Distrust. Evil forces to be sure. Sadly enough they may be so inextricably interwoven throughout the fabric of our society that 1974 isn't such a cheery prospect after all. Because of these phenomenon a sizeable number of people are not actively participating in their society. Not too long ago many observers thought there was a real threat of revolution in this country. Others saw such thinking as an excuse for government intervention and takeover. Those notions have been mostly dispelled. Now the call is to work within the system. Sounds easy enough. Why then is it so difficult for so many to join and do so?

The answer to that question is not an easy one. It is conceivable to me that the manners, habits, ways of living and values of so many have been changed so much by past events that conventional ways of working within seem hopeless to them. In other words they are unable to adjust their newly formed personal habits and preferences to the task of changing the institutions and bureaucracies they now question.

It is obvious to even the most disinterested party that present day politics are presently a source of deep disenchantment to millions of Americans. Corruption seems widespread. Cynicism and apathy feed off that vice. Leadership is thought by many to be sorely lacking. Numerous laws are held to benefit only the rich. And the list goes on into 1974!

Regardless of the ills that may beset our nation, perhaps now is the time for hope. We can hope that the true American spirit will be revived through new and more effective leadership. We can hope that our love for consumption and possessions will be tempered by a deeper appreciation of available resources. We can hope that secrecy will be replaced by openness and distrust by honesty. We can hope that cooperation will displace alienation. Credibility will supersede cynicism. Perhaps constructive action will supplant apathy. Maybe 1974 is the year these and other things will begin to happen. If so, my guess is that those millions of disaffected citizens along with their fellow countrymen will have a most Happy Year.

CAMELOT TO BE PRESENTED AT RUMFORD HIGH SCHOOL

Rumford area theater-goers will be in for a musical treat when R. A. A. P. A. presents "Camelot" on February 7, 8, and 9 at the Rumford High School.

"Camelot" was the last collaboration of Allan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe and followed their smash hit "My Fair Lady." Some of their songs to be heard will include "If Ever I Would Leave You," "How to Handle a Woman," "What Do the Simple Folks Do?" "The Seven Dandy Virtues," "The Simple Joys of Maidenhood," "C'est Moli," and, of course, the title song, "Camelot."

Kenneth Nye will be seen as the medieval king who gathered the most stalwart knights of ancient England about his fabled Round Table, but in the story that Lerner fashioned from T. H. White's novel "The Once and Future King," he will be very occupied with his sprightly and beautiful Queen Guenevere, to be portrayed by Marie Wilson. This Round Table harbors a very famous triangle, at the third corner of which stands that most noble of knights and dashing of men, Sir Lancelot, played by James Farrand.

Others who will don shining armor for R. A. A. P. A.'s production of "Camelot" include Arthur Clavet as a fumbling dragon hunter, Robert Eckman as the evil knight who sows the seeds of Arthur's downfall, Charles "Bill" Hersey as Merlin the magician, as well as Wayne Landry, Robert Parent, and Einar Wulff, among the damsels of "Camelot" will be Joyce Roy as the wicked, beautiful witch with a weakness for sweets—Morgan Le Fey; Bea Clark will be heard as the voice of Nimue.

Burton DeFrees will direct "Camelot" and Anna Crouse will marshal all the musical elements of the production. Costumes are under the direction of Dee Homan and Jean Hersey.

"Camelot" will begin at 7:30 p. m. on February 7, 8, and 9 at Muskie Auditorium. Youngsters will be dazzled, oldsters will "youthen" along with the wizard Merlin, at this enthralling musical about the fabled days of King Arthur and his knights.

RIDEOUT IS CANDIDATE FOR REPUBLICAN NOMINATION
IN SENATE DISTRICT 5

Gordon Rideout of South Paris, for 47 years an employee of the New England Telephone Company, will seek the Republican nomination for the State Senate from district five in the upcoming June 12 primary.

Gordon Rideout

Mr. Rideout, 63 years old, has officially filed his nomination papers with the Secretary of State, and is off and running on a self-financed campaign for the seat now held by Lowell Henley, Republican, of Norway, who has announced that he will not again seek the post.

Mr. Rideout is a self-ascribed liberal Republican who sincerely likes people, especially those he has been in contact with for many years.

"I feel so deeply about the people around here. I feel that I should repay those good people of this area that have helped me so much in the past," he said.

A strong believer in the youth of the country, Gordon said he wants to cooperate with them and listen to what they have to say. The area has experienced an influx of young, college educated people with creative ideas.

"But they need jobs if they are to stay here," Gordon said. He plans to work to bring additional industry into the area to utilize their varied talents and skills, yet working in harmony with environmentalists.

Adding to his list of accomplishments, the reluctant retiree is a member of the Norway-Paris Kiwanis and the Masons, was for 21 years a trustee of secretary of the Oxford County Agricultural Society and for 12 years a trustee of the Paris Water District. In addition, the father of two was for many years the chairman of the South Paris Republican Committee and has been active politically for many years.

Gordon attributes much of the success he has experienced over the past years to his wife, Winona.

"My great success comes from marrying a girl that should have been a lawyer," he said.

Mr. Rideout and his campaign manager, Charles Hammon, an legislator who is now retired, are gearing up for the up coming campaign and are anxious to work with the people. "I've really worked with people all my life and I really have enjoyed every minute of it," he said.

A former semi-pro baseball player who labels himself as a fastball side-armed, Gordon said he feels that at this moment archaic thinking is widespread. He feels that
